

EHS Compliance Programs for Cannabis Enterprises

Triumvirate Environmental helps early-stage and fast-growing cannabis companies understand the state and federal regulatory environment, obtain permits and licenses, and build environmental, health, and safety (EHS) programs. Our experts will help you stay in compliance, reduce your risk, and maintain continuity as you grow your product and your business. Whether your cannabis organization is new to the compliance world or has some safety programs in place but needs guidance to reach operational excellence, we can assist you.

After a thorough assessment, we will work closely with your staff to develop and integrate EHS programs into your existing business systems to help reduce risk and assure compliance. A team of our specialists, assembled based on your custom needs, site-specific challenges, and compliance gaps, will collaborate with you to achieve your goals.

Customized Programs for Cannabis Organizations

- Flammable storage permits
- Hazardous waste management training
- Waste management and disposal programs
- OSHA programs and plans
- CDC registrations
- RCRA program compliance and optimization
- Employee medical surveillance programs
- EPA programs
- Safety, planning, and management training
- EPCRA program compliance and optimization
- Chemical inventory management
- NFPA/fire code compliance
- DOT compliance and security
- DHS compliance and security
- Wastewater permits and operations
- Compliance training (RCRA, DOT, OSHA, IATA)
- Any additional EHS help your growing cannabis organization may need or want!

Benefits of Partnering with an EHS Expert

All-in-one service: Rely on one partner to provide all the necessary EHS support for your cannabis company

Efficient staffing: Minimize the number of contractors required for a compliant EHS program

Flexibility and scalability: If you have a high growth period we can immediately adjust to handle new responsibilities

Trust in our program: We pay the fine if a program fails a regulatory audit